Anticipated enrollment in the seventh and eighth grades is 115 students, only two more than last year. The projected enrollment in the Venice district of 730 is 42 pupils more than last year.

Federal Flood Insurance Program Outlined

A federal program to make flood insurance available through a cooperative effort of the government and the private insurance industry has been outlined by Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) in letters to public officials of the Quad-City area.

He said information on the program is being distributed in the region and the high interest in the flood insurance program. The insurance plan, known as the National Flood Insurance Program, was established under the U. S. Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and is just now starting to get underway.

A fundamental part of the act, Price said, will require state and local governments to cooperate by adopting and enforcing land use provisions to restrict future development of land in flood-prone areas.

The act is aimed at meeting an insurance need in areas subject to flooding, including coastal areas, which over the years the insurance industry has been unable to meet without assistance.

The program is expected to provide the needed insurance through a cooperative federal-business-local community effort and sharing of risk and losses.

Outlines First Steps
Several important steps are required before flood insurance can be offered in a community.

First, the community, state, county or other political subdivision, must demonstrate interest in having such coverage. Studies must then be made of the areas which are subject to flood damage, premium rates must be established, the community must give adequate assurance that it will meet the land use requirements, and finally the insurance companies must be prepared to sell the insurance.

To be considered for a rate determination study, a community must furnish evidence of positive interest indicating the recognized public need for flood insurance, the extent to which flood plain management activities have been instituted and a willingness to undertake other necessary official actions. Evidence of positive interest may be in the form of a resolution or other record of action by the city council or a letter for the purposes of complying with the federal statutory requirement.

These may be submitted to the Federal Insurance Administration, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, S. W., Washington, D. C. 20410.

Price said communities may obtain flood hazard information from the district offices of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and assistance in developing plans for flood plain land use. Management is available from area site engineers in HUD's Federal Housing Administration field offices and from the Corps of Engineers.

In this area, Price announced, communities may contact the Corps of Engineers district office at 906 Olive Street, St. Louis, or the Federal Housing Administration, PO Box 1828, Springfield, Ill.

In addition, he said, the Division of Waterways, Department of Public Works and Buildings, 201 West Monroe Street, Springfield, and State Department of Business and Economic Development, 222 South College Street, Springfield, may be helpful in preparation of local planning.

Many private engineers and land planners also are quiers and to provide the necessary assistance, Price said.

In operation of the program, the congressman pointed out, it is essential that the community or state be enrolled and that certain basic criteria of the act and requirements established by the Secretary of HUD be met.

The act recognizes, he added, that establishment of a system of land use controls in the area subject to flooding is important in reducing flood damage in the future.

To reach this result, the legislation requires that communities: (1) restrict development of land exposed to flood damage; (2) guide the development of proposed construction area from flood-prone areas; (3) assist in reducing damage caused by floods; and (4) improve the long-range land management and use of flood-prone areas.

Initially, Price reported, flood insurance will be available for one to four-family residential properties.

Coverage for small business properties will be provided after special rate studies are completed.

As more experience is gained, he said, coverage can be extended to other types and classes of properties.

The amount of insurance which will be possible is limited to $17,500 liability per dwelling unit, and $30,000 for any single structure.

These limits apply, however, only to premium rates below actual cost and the act permits insurance at the full risk premiums to be sold for coverage in excess of the $17,500 and $30,000 amounts, not exceeding twice these figures.

City General Fund Spending Topped Income by $429,000

Granite City, currently beset by a series of mounting financial problems in trying to find enough money to meet operational costs, overspent its general fund income by $429,000 during its 1968-69 fiscal year that ended last April 30, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

During the same fiscal period, it was reported, the city also incurred expenses of $2,400,650 in all fund accounts, or $45,264 more than the overall appropriation of $2,355,386 legally permitted.

A newly completed audit of Granite City's financial operations during the 1968-69 fiscal, prepared by J. D. Huggins, certified public accountant, shows that while revenues in the general fund from all sources amounted to $1,131,775, total expenditures for the year amounted to $1,561,400.

The general corporate fund covered administration of the city's three major departments—police, fire and streets—as well as the sanitation department and 13 other sectors of the city government.

Other municipal operations, such as the sewage treatment plant, public library and arterial street maintenance, operate under separate accounts.

Revenue Increase Slight
While the general fund revenue during the past fiscal year amounted to $1,131,775, an increase of $30,087 over income during the previous fiscal year, the total expenditures of $1,561,400 were an increase of $152,043 over disbursements of the previous year.

On this basis, the ratio of increased spending during 1968-69 fiscal period over that of the previous year, was four times greater than the increase in revenue.

Of the 17 general fund accounts, 12 of them, including all of the larger units of the government, showed substantial increases in spending, while five showed rather minor reductions below the expenditure level of the previous year.

Income of the general fund during the past year was made up of $780,242 in general corporate taxes, $140,639 in tax commission fees, $20,982 in fees for licenses, permits and other city operations, and $3190 received in lieu of taxes on housing units.

Tax Income Higher
The corporate tax revenue accounted for virtually all of the increase in income during 1968-69, as compared to that of the previous year.

The $786,342 tax income was an increase of $39,344 over the $746,998 tax receipts of the general fund for the 1967-68 year.

Income from tax commissions also increased to $140,639 from the $133,427 of the previous year, but the gain was offset by a drop in revenue from license fees and other sources. That amounted to $201,692 last year, compared to $208,937 during the previous year. The $3190 received in lieu of taxes also was slightly below the $3253 received during the 1967-68 year.

Administrative costs of the general fund amounted to $142,502, up $10,919 over the $131,583 of the previous year. Expenses of the tax commission fund amounted to $19,735, down from the previous year's expenses of $22,968.

Bulk of the general fund expenditures, the audit reveals, were made for the four larger city departments.

Costs of the police, fire, street and sanitation departments were $1,181,440, an increase of $174,151 over the total of $1,007,289 expended for these same departments during the previous fiscal period.

Due to Salaries
Larger expenses in these departments resulted primarily from salary increases in new contracts granted last year by the city.

Last year's total cost of operating the police department amounted to $348,371 during the previous year. Expenses of other departments, compared to previous disbursements, are: Fire department, $344,451, compared to $307,012; Street department, $263,519, compared to $234,474, and sanitation department, $193,058, compared to $138,452.

Most of the other general fund accounts showed increased expenditures during the last fiscal year. Those disbursements, with comparative figures of the previous year in parentheses, were:

Inspection, $29,236 ($27,472); interest and judgments, $35,289 ($64,835); city hall maintenance, $27,675 ($32,085); street lighting, $41,591 ($33,665); water, $19,854 ($19,197); humane department, $12,724 ($12,800); contingent, $5866 ($11,488); electric, $12,866 ($9064); school crossing guards, $22,032 ($20,775); city planning, $3664 ($15,853); and pumping station, $2267 ($566).

Student Conduct Policy Adopted By Madison Board

The Madison board of education adopted a brief policy statement concerning the conduct of students in the schools during the new school year at a regular meeting Thursday night.

A resolution presented by board member William Schreiber reads:

"The Madison district will not condone any student or students inciting or taking part in any type of riot or school disruption without the consent of suspension or expulsion by the board of education."

The policy was stressed as the result of some difficulties experienced at the high school during the last school year.

The board employed John C. Pezzie of Joliet as art supervisor for the district, and Mrs. Marlene Hart of Madison as special education teacher at Harris school. Pezzie also has a coaching background. It was announced at the meeting.

School Supt. Raymond Dragich reported that all buildings are in good condition for the opening of the next term except for roof repairs under way at Louis Baer grade school. The work is being conducted by the Quad-City Roofing Co. at a cost of $790.

Federal Oil Co. and Sinclair Oil Co. were awarded fuel oil contracts on bids of 11.7 cents per gallon.

Awarded contracts to supply cafeterias were American Bakeries for bread, Miller Provision, Tarlas Packing Co. for meat, and J&J Packing Co. for meat. Aro-Dressel Dairy for milk and Kraft, Edray Foods and Sea Bass for other items.

A report by School Treasurer Ray Kozielek showed Aug. 1 cash balances of $878 in the education fund, $11,001 in the building fund and $28,531 in the bonds and interest fund for a total of $41,411, of which $29,000 is invested.

The board approved July salaries of $150,942 from the education fund and $982 from the building fund, and July bills of $14,985 from the education fund and $16,544 from the building fund.

Explosion Averted as Barge Hits Lock Here

A towboat with six gasoline barges struck the wing wall at the Chain of Rocks canal lock last May 14, causing a hole in the front of the lead barge, it was disclosed during the week-end. An explosion was avoided. The barge was impaled on the wall, and a rocking action to free it caused sparks which might have ignited gasoline in the next compartment if it had become ruptured. The wall and the front of the barge were smothered with foam before the maneuver was started.

It was one of a number of barge accidents in this section of the Mississippi River which occurred in the past year. Some were unreported to the Coast Guard, a violation of maritime law.

Barges utilized for gasoline are compartmented, with the bow compartment kept empty. James R. Lipchik, 3337 Village lane, was ticketed at noon Friday at 2200 Washington avenue on a charge of failing to secure new registration for a gasoline.

MORE ABOUT Tax; Sewer

A 93% tax collection, would have produced about $165,000, a lodg'ing from meeting the $36,000 specified in the appropriation and tax levy bills.

Some aldermen contend that funds in the Nameoki sewerage system accounts can be transferred to use for the sewer repairs, but others maintain that such transfers are illegal so long as there are outstanding bonds to be retired in those accounts.

Various street improvements always are a point of issue among council members since there is no special tax rate to finance this type of work and the money must come out of the city's regular corporate fund income or from street department revenue.

Anticipated cost of the city's police and fire departments during the current fiscal year, which began May 1, also figures in the financial outlook. Substantial salary raises a year ago, supplemented by $75 monthly increases again this year, have pushed operation costs close to the half-million-dollar mark for each department.

Police Costs

The new tax levy calls for $467,202 for the police department—all of it out of the general revenue fund. All general fund items in the new bill total $918,629, compared to a general fund levy of $754,008 last year.

As originally drawn before last week's council meeting, the general fund included $380,679 of the police department expense.

The remainder was to be provided by a special five-cent tax permitted under a new state law, but the ordinance legalizing that tax was among those defeated by council members. As a result, the additional $106,922 set up for the police department as a separate levy was nullified and was added to the general fund accounts.

Police department requirements, therefore, make up about half of the total general fund tax levy items of $918,629, of which is directed to the general fund to finance operation of those sectors of government that are not supported by their own tax rates. Such income includes state sales taxes, tax on commission fees from the treasurer's office, parking meter fees and fees from licenses and permits.

The city, effective next year, also will receive new revenue from the Illinois state income tax.

In the past, these funds have been sufficient to offset the gaps between expenditures and property tax income, but this year's skyrocketing operational costs appear certain to leave the city with a big deficit by the end of its current fiscal year next April 30.

Like the general revenue fund, the tax levy for the fire department will be far insufficient to raise the amount of money budgeted for that department.

While the fire department carries a special tax rate of its own, it is limited currently to 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Council members last week rejected an ordinance that would have increased the rate to 15 cents.

Fire Levy Jumps

The appropriation and tax levy bills carry an item of $449,289 for the fire department, $357,804 of it in salaries. The 10-cent tax rate, on the basis of last year's valuation, would produce about $165,000, also at 93% of full tax collection.

This means the fire department cost also will have to be supplemented with funds from sources other than property taxes. Last year's fire protection tax levy was $342,566.

The same situation exists in the street department, where this year's appropriation and tax levy amounts to $341,203. Last year, the city levied $276,580 for the street department, requiring the full statutory 10-cent tax rate.

As in the fire department account, the 10-cent tax rate of the street department would produce the like amount of about $165,000 applied against last year's valuation.

This year's figure of $197,900 for the sanitation department is the only budget and tax levy item that remains virtually unchanged among the larger units of government. Last year's levy was $192,729, requiring the maximum 10-cent tax rate for that purpose.

Here again, a shortage will exist between the tax income and the amount needed for operation, but it does not to the extent that it does in the other city departments.

Some Income Gains

Granite City expects to receive next year over $200,000 as its share of the Illinois state income tax and an additional $167,000 in sales tax distribution resulting from legislative action increasing municipal shares of the sales tax to a full 1%. Previously, the city was allotted sales tax funds on the basis of 75% of 1%.

During the fiscal year ending last April 30, the city received $501,514 in state sales tax on individual resignation was submitted despite an extension of the deadline from late June to late July.

Timing of Friday's resumption of the talks was set by the union. The district had made several attempts to obtain an earlier resumption of negotiations.

Regardless of whether it is called a strike or mass resignation, the lack of an agreement appeared to have set the stage for a work stoppage involving a number of teachers, subject to today's AFT meeting and tomorrow's board session.

The school district has been represented in the talks by Supt. Davis, Assistant Supt. Frank Kraus, Raymond Tom Jones, administrative assistant in charge of personnel, and three school board members, George E. Moore Jr., Carl Macios and Donald Stucke.

The AFT local has been represented by Robert L. Johnson, retiring president; Richard Huff, new president; and other members of the Salary and Policy Committee, Mrs. Helen Bjorkman, Jon Mullin, John Boyer, Gerald Brown and Stephen Radosevich.

the .75 of one cent per dollar allotment.

Thus, the city will receive about $400,000 in additional income, although the state income tax money will not be available until after first returns are received by the state next spring.

Such an increase in revenue can go only part way in meeting budget requirements, which are set at $1 million higher than those of last year.

Shrine Cyclists Take Part in Two Parades

The Ainal Compacts participated in back-to-back parades this weekend at Robinson and Wilcoxville, Ill. Unit members trailed their motorcycles almost to the Indiana border to be part of the Ainal temple ceremonial parade at Robinson Saturday, and rode their machines to Wilcoxville Sunday for a homecoming parade.

Robinson was selected by Ainal Temple for one of the 1969 outside ceremonials. The Potentate and his Divan led the parade in convertibles. After the parade, new Shriner candidates and the parading units had lunch at the park. The ceremonial itself was held in Robinson high school.

Wilcoxville held its homecoming parade Sunday, and the Compacts were a feature part of the parade. A large crowd lined the route and the motorcycle unit of Granite City's Tri-City Shrine club was applauded vigorously as it performed its maneuvers. The parade ended at a park, where rides and concessions had been set up.

Vernon Cluts captain, was in charge of the unit's activities.

Expect Action to Expand Gateway Board Wednesday

Efforts to resolve differences over a plan to increase its board of directors by adding six "regional citizens" are expected at a regular meeting of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council Wednesday.

Final action on the proposal was slated for the board session Aug. 6, but was postponed when disagreement developed over the appointment of a regional citizen for Missouri by the governor. The opposing plan called for making the appointment by the county board members from Jefferson, St. Charles and Franklin counties.

The plan for a regional forum as a means of expanding the council's board calls for appointment of one resident of St. Louis appointed by the mayor; one St. Louis county resident appointed by the county supervisor; one resident of Missouri appointed by the governor; one resident of Madison county appointed by the county board of supervisors; one resident of East St. Louis selected by the mayor; and one resident of Illinois selected by the Illinois governor.

The Gateway Council board now consists of 15 voting members, seven from Illinois, seven from Missouri and the Bi-State Development Agency chairman representing both states.

Represent All Areas. The plan for expanding the board provides that the six citizen appointees would be representative of the business, labor, education, black and religious communities.

Walter Steinburk, presiding judge of Jefferson county in Missouri, sought to amend the plan in the board's last session by providing for appointment of the Missouri citizen by caucus of the board members of the three counties.

Objections to the amendment resulted in a decision to delay the issue until the board meeting Wednesday. If a change in the board makeup is decided upon, it must be done in time for approval by the general assembly of the council in October.

The board also is expected to consider Wednesday proposals submitted by Executive Director Eugene Moody for obtaining funds to forestall a $262,000 cut-back in proposed plans in the fiscal year.

Moody has presented three plans, all involving increased per capita cost participation from areas covered by the council's services.

Moody has told the council Gateway Council will end the 1970 fiscal year with a $90,000 deficit unless steps are taken to increase revenue.

Tri-City Teams Cop Honors in K. of C. Softball Tournament

Tri-City Team No. 1 edged Tri-City Team No. 2 by a 2-1 score to win the championship of the Madison county Knights of Columbus softball tournament Sunday afternoon at the Sacred Heart diamond.

The two local teams advanced to the finals as Team No. 1 handed Collinsville pitcher Vince Loman his first defeat of the season 6-2. Sacred Heart, and Team No. 2, downed Bethalto 16-9 at St. Margaret Mary field.

Collinsville placed third in the annual event by tagging Bethalto with a 9-2 setback.

Tri-City No. 2 scored first in the title game on singles by Rev. Kevin Sullivan, Steve Sallach Jr. and Jack Trittschuh. But Team No. 1 came back in the second frame as Jerry Walter doubled, Bill Connolly tripled and Frank Orris was safe on an infield grounder.

A highlight of the game was a triple play by Team No. 1 when Ed Dohm upped in front of the plate with the bases loaded. Catcher Al Haug started it by stepping on the plate for a forcout and threw to first for the second out. The ball then went to third and back to first to catch a runner between first and second.

game, while Rev. Tom Treece was the winning hurler in the Collinsville game.

In the semifinals, Team No. 2 scored nine runs in the third inning and T. A. Feeler was credited with the victory. Charles Thomas and Steve Mejski caught for the winners. Fred Trittschuh was the tournament director. Following the title game, a reception was held at the K. of C. club, where a lunch and refreshments were served to players and guests.

Charges of speeding on Broadway, Venice, were filed Saturday against Samuel Rogers, East St. Louis, Ricky Frith, 2220 Missouri avenue, and Paul Caban III, 1409 Rhodes street, Madison. Michael Lenhardt, St. Louis, was arrested at 2:30 a.m. Sunday for failing to pay the McKinley Bridge toll.

Fire in Auto One of Three Venice Blazes

Fire of unknown cause resulted in $50 damage to an old four-door sedan with no license plates, parked at Market street and Madison avenue, Venice, at 4:25 a.m. Saturday. The interior of the auto was gutted. Venice firemen also went to the northwest corner of Lee Park to extinguish burning rubbish at 3 p.m. Friday and to the terminal Railroad Association office near American Legion Post 307 to put out a grass fire at 7:40 p.m. Saturday.

Junior College Vote May Be Held Nov. 25

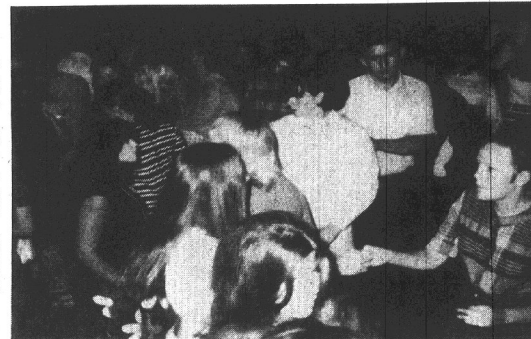

A referendum for the proposed Lewis and Clark junior college district, which excludes the Quad-City area, is expected to be held Nov. 25.

The date was selected by a steering committee and Wilbur Trimpe, Madison county superintendent of schools.

The proposed district covers parts of Madison, Macoupin, Calhoun, Jersey and Greene counties and involves 17 public school districts.

The committee is organizing a speakers' bureau to promote the district. A previous effort to form a junior college district in the region, which then included the Quad-Cities, was defeated at the polls.

Meeting on Legislation
An annual area legislation dinner of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce has been set for 6:30 p.m. Sept. 10 at Augustine's restaurant, Belleville. Clifford N. Hearing Thursday on Truck Terminal Here

An on-site public hearing will be held by the Madison county zoning board of appeals at 9:35 a.m. Thursday on the petition of Myrtle Landwehrmeier for a special use permit to operate a warehouse and a motor freight terminal in a B-3 highway business district in Chouteau township.

The site is located in the northwest quarter of the intersection of West Chain of Rocks road and Highway Three immediately east of the Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice drainage levee.

Another public hearing is set for 9:50 a.m. Sept. 2 on the petition of Fred P. Schuman, owner, for a special use permit to permit to place a mobile home in an agricultural district in Leet township. The location is about a mile east of Grantfork on county road Route Six.

600 Teenagers Turn Out For Rising Sons Finale

"The crowd was probably the largest and most enthusiastic of any I have seen at the 'Y' in my 2½ years here," Chuck Hasse, YMCA youth director, said.

More than 600 teenagers turned out to bid "The Rising Sons" a final farewell at the "Y" Thursday night as an era of music came to a close after three years on the local scene.

The group is calling it quits, as several of the members will be entering military service soon. Other members of the band probably will join other groups and continue to entertain area teenagers.

As lead singer, Jim Simpson presented a few closing remarks to an applauding crowd. After several minutes, the band returned for an encore.

Many of the teenagers had

Jack Thomas, 51, Educator, Dies Suddenly in Ohio

Jack Bruce Thomas, 51, of 33 East Thruston street, Dayton, O., formerly assistant to the chancellor of SIU-SW campus, died of a heart attack at noon Thursday in a Dayton hospital. He had entered the hospital the previous day due to chest pains.

He is a former resident of 2662 State street here.

Born in Oaklandon, Ind., he received his early education there and his bachelor of science degree in 1940 from Indiana University. He obtained a master of science degree in 1941 at New York University and his doctorate in sociology from Indiana University in 1959.

Mr. Thomas joined the faculty at SIU-SW in 1958, teaching instructional television. In 1962, he was appointed to the post of assistant dean of academic affairs. When the office of chancellor was created in 1968, he became assistant to the chancellor.

He resigned his post here effective July 1, 1969, to become provost of Wright State University, Dayton.

The Thomas family first lived in Collinsville and later moved to State street in Granite City. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ann Simopoulos Thomas, who taught English and developmental reading at Granite City high school; one daughter, Dru Thomas, 16; and his mother, Mrs. G. C. Thomas of Oaklandon. His father preceded him in death two years ago.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. today in Dayton.

A memorial fund will be established by SIU-SW in honor of the former assistant to the chancellor, and donations to the fund will be accepted at the campus.

Changes in Securities Law Going Into Effect

Secretary of State Paul Powell has announced that legislative bills containing amendments effecting new rules and regulations of the Securities Law of 1933 have been signed by Governor Richard Ogilvie.

H.B. 912 makes it a violation for an investment advisor to engage in fraud or deception as outlined by rules and regulations of the secretary of state.

H.B. 913 is an amendment providing Powell with rules to cover procedures of applications, reports and statements regarding various classes of securities. This amendment includes a clarification of the powers of the secretary of state. H.B. 914 provides that service of process made upon the secretary of state be followed by a notice sent by registered mail within 10 days to the defendant at the last known address.

H.B. 915 required that more stringent requirements be enacted upon dealers and investment advisors. Dealers must maintain minimum net capital of $25,000.

H.B. 916 redefines the term "securities to be retired." H.B. 917 amends the 1933 Securities Law by making changes in procedure for filing application for authorization of a sale of securities by a registered dealer so as to qualify for exempt transaction, and raises the filing fee to $200.

It changes requirements for exemption status regarding sales of interest in natural resource leases and issuance of securities in certain corporate transactions.

H.B. 918 exempts from registration by notification, description or qualification securities which are the subject of employee security purchase plans and are registered as investment fund shares.

Ogilvie Reveals $53.8 Million Highway Plan

A $53.8 million program for widening and resurfacing more than 869 miles of Illinois highways on eight major routes was announced by Governor Richard B. Ogilvie who said he hopes the entire program will be under contract by April 1, and completed by October next year.

Much of the mileage involved is in the central and southern part of the state. The governor said the projects represent only the first phase in a massive highway rehabilitation program his administration will undertake.

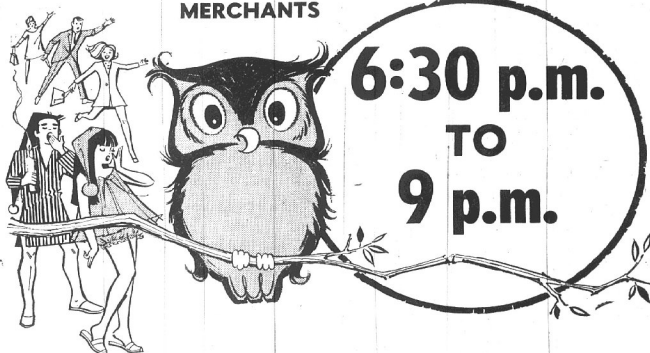

The work originally was scheduled over a five-year program but highway improvement legislation passed in this year's session of the legislature made the new one-year time table possible.

He emphasized that the plan in no way effects plans for a supplemental freeway network. He said the highway division now is drafting tentative schedules for freeway corridor hearings.

evening from a three-day, camping trip to Camp Keck, near Belleville.

The scouts prepared supper for guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blackburn, Mrs. Anita Moody and Tom Watkins and son, Michael, who provided transportation for the scouts. Assisting with the transportation were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Prokopick and Mrs. Sue Gawwinger.

Patrol leaders for various camp duties were: Tammy Arnold, Vicki Moody and Sheri Bickingham.

The troop entertained Brownie Troop 899 and its leaders, Mrs. Barbara Blackburn and Mrs. Alma Bunte, on Wednesday and the older members conducted a guided tour of the campsite for the Brownies. They prepared and served a campfire stew and "some-mores" for their guests, and both troops participated in opening and closing ceremonies as an inter-troop activity. The first leaders' meeting will commence at 11 a.m. Sept. 4 at Wilson Park Shelter Five with a pot luck dinner. Schools will be responsible for the following: Prather and McKinley, chicken and bread; Emerson, baked beans, other Dellamano, 427 North Morrison avenue, Collinsville.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of pure white tulle with a full long train. It featured Val lace trim and tiny buttons on a Victorian neckline and slightly full long sleeves. A graceful sweep train fell from the waist, covering the A-line skirt.

A Camellot design headpiece was banded with seed pearls and a tiered puff veil was worn.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis centered with an orchid corsage.

The honor attendant was in a sheer blue windowpane check dress over taffeta. It was styled with a scoop neckline. The long sleeves had a wide ruffle of pleated Venice lace and the Empire waistline was encircled with avocado velvet ribbon, ending with a bow and streamers down the back.

Patricia Pero, Allen LeSage Exchange Vows

The wedding of Miss Patricia Lee Pero and Allen Edward LeSage of Florissant, Mo., took place Saturday afternoon at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Pero, 566 State street, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan F. LeSage of Birmingham, Mich.

Arrangements of large white chrysanthemums, snow crystal pom poms and greenery adorned the altars, and white ribbon bows marked the pews down the center aisle.

The Rev. Joseph Enright officiated at the 2 o'clock nuptial Mass.

Mrs. Margaret Crenshaw presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Keith Curtis, as he sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "Mother Beloved."

The bride wore a floor-length Empire gown of white silk organza featuring a portrait neckline and a peau d'ange lace bodice with short sleeves. Appliques of the lace enhanced the A-line skirt and edged the full train which flowed gracefully from the shoulders.

A crown-shaped headpiece fashioned of matching lace and delicately accented with tiny seed pearls held in place the bride's tiered illusion veil and she carried an Edwardian bouquet of white stock, white roses.

Elegance carnations and baby breath.

Miss Delores Pero, a sister of the bride, was honor attendant, and Miss Beverly Rusick, a cousin, served as bridesmaid.

They wore identical gowns of peacock blue faille with Empire bodices and short sleeves. Buck yokes with tiny self buttons accented the full gathered back panels which flowed into slight trains. Matching blue pleated hairbraided picture hats with velvet ribbon ties completed their costumes.

They carried colonial bouquets of carnations, pom poms, roses and baby breath in variegated shades of pink and purple.

Kathy and Kristy Feigl, nieces of the bride, flower girls, wore long dresses of white silk organza designed with short waists and full skirts. Venetian lace trimmed the bodices and the brief sleeves, and the skirts ended in short trains. Circlets of flowers were worn in their hair.

Joel Kramer was best man for Mr. LeSage and John Blaney was a groomsmen. John Withers was usher and Greg Feigl, the bride's nephew, served as junior usher.

A buffet dinner and reception were held at Augustine's in Belleville at 5 o'clock and the newlyweds left for a trip to Vermont. They will be at home after Sept. 2 in Ferguson, Mo.

The bride received her early education in the Granite City schools and was awarded a B. A. degree from Fontbonne College in Clayton, Mo., and a M. S. W. degree from Loyola

MRS. ALLAN E. LESAGE. Her wedding took place Saturday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. She is the former Patricia Lee Pero.

He is now employed by McDonnell Automation Co.

The rehearsal dinner was given Friday evening at the Wood River and his bride in St. Louis.

Mary Frances Wasylik Marries Mack Coulter

Miss Mary Frances Wasylik and Mack V. Coulter Jr., exchanged wedding vows at an 11 o'clock Mass Saturday morning at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wasylik, 2328 East 28th street, and Mr. and Mrs. Mack V. Coulter sr., 30 Devon Hill lane.

White summer flowers and greenery decorated the altar and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kevin Sullivan.

Mrs. Margaret Crawshaw was at the organ and accompanied the soloists, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kudekka, as they sang "He'll Ask Thee Lord," "On This Day" and "Ave Maria."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace. It was designed with a scoop neck and elbow sleeves. Lace edged the Watteau train and wide ruffles of lace trimmed the sleeves.

A matching three-tiered headpiece trimmed with sequins was held in place with a bow. The bride's bouquet was made up of white carnations.

Mrs. Kathleen Ellis, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Charlene Wasylik, another sister, Miss Rosemary Chadwick, a cousin of the bride and groom, Miss Carla Wertha and Mrs. Helen Cockrum served as bridesmaids.

Their floor-length gowns of nylon organza with white Empire bodices outlined with lace featured semi-scoop necks and elbow sleeves. Their Watteau trains fell in soft folds and small flowers were embroidered on the bodices and trains.

MRS. MACK V. COULTER JR., a bride of Saturday. The former Mary Frances Wasylik, she was married at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Parents Awaiting News Of Seabee In Gulfport

Although they have not heard from their son, stationed with a Seabee outfit at Gulfport, Miss., since Hurricane Camille struck the coastal area early last week, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gorbey, 7708 National avenue, expressed optimism today, citing communication difficulties from the disaster-stricken region as the probable reason.

"I believe no news is good news and that Paul is fine. They must be very busy down there clearing up after the hurricane," Mrs. Gorbey said this morning. She said her daughter contacted the Tri-City Red Cross office Tuesday, but that no word on the serviceman has yet been received.

E-4 Gorbey joined the Seabees two weeks ago in Alliance, O., and was sent immediately to the Gulfport Seabee station, prior to assignment to a training school for heavy equipment operators. Previously, he served in the Marine Corps, including a year in Vietnam. He was discharged from the Marines 18 months ago.

He is married to the former Miss Mary Ann Kirchner, daughter of Olie Kirchner of Granite City and Mrs. Betty

Two Building Unions to Vote On New Pacts

Tentative contract agreements between two large construction unions and the Southern Illinois Builders Association are to be presented to union members for ratification tonight and tomorrow.

If approved, the new agreements are expected to lead to immediate settlement of labor issues that have tied up $500 million in construction work in 16 Southern Illinois counties, including Madison and St. Clair. The tentative agreements were reached last week in negotiations between the SIBA and Illinois Contractors Association with Ironworkers Union Local 392 and Cement Finishers Union Local 90, both of which have been on strike throughout the 16-county area since Aug. 4.

No agreement has yet been reached for members of the Madison District Council of Carpenters and the Tri-County Illinois District of Carpenters, but settlement with these unions is expected to follow almost immediately an acceptance of contract terms by the ironworkers and cement finishers.

Ironworkers Local 392 is to vote in a meeting tonight on a contract offer that reportedly calls for wage increases of $2.85 per hour over a three-year period. Members of the Cement Masons union are to vote tomorrow night. Their tentative agreement is reported to be based on a wage increase of $3.25 spread over a four-year period.

Members of the two large carpenter councils last week rejected an offer calling for increases totaling $2.40 over a three-year period after some officials reported they had heard the ironworkers had received a higher offer than that given the carpenters.

Carpenter union officials have been reported holding back on any settlement pending settlement of contract terms with the ironworkers and masons.

Three years ago, the carpenters were one of the first unions to sign agreements. The ironworkers held out and obtained a larger settlement. The Laborers Council was the first construction union to accept new contract terms. It accepted an agreement Aug. 1 calling for $3.25 per hour spread over four years.

The carpenters have not been striking during the contract talks and have been working on jobs where they did not have to cross picket lines set up by the ironworkers and masons. The ironworkers were reported to have called in pickets from construction jobs Friday after reaching the tentative agreement.

ATTITUDE OF TEACHERS NOT FAIR OR REALISTIC

To the Editor:

I would like to give one vote of thanks to our Granite City school board for the stand they have taken against the "moon shot" salary position taken by the teachers' union.

The board deserves more support than has been given by the news media and general voting public. It is not an easy decision to defend and protect the taxpayers' money, when those taxpayers show no signs of public appreciation for same.

Let's not be complacent; show the board we appreciate their actions.

An organization which advocates that 70% of all available money, regardless of source, be applied toward salary raises is surely irresponsible, to say the least.

This will surely call for a different attitude from the public when the next school tax proposal is presented to the voters.

The idea that the teachers' salary should be the same salary range as people in the professions is not realistic.

The teachers are on a six-hour day, eight- or nine-month scheduled year. See if you can find a representative of the professions who has such an arrangement.

The idea that tax money for teachers should come from state funds is also not a responsible decision. Don't the taxpayers have to replace that money, or is it donated by some unforgotten?

seen in object or body? This is the implication.

It's time the teachers took a realistic approach.

If they desire the continued support of the taxpayers, and are in earnest concerning a desirable annual wage, the door is open. It may not be for very long.

Many taxpayers are getting impatient with the prevailing attitude.

Why don't the teachers request a 12-month school year when they are in sympathy and appreciate the past actions of the taxpayers?

Their starting salary now is in line with the engineering graduate.

If the general belief among the teachers is that industry is such a great vocation, why don't those teachers try their wares in that "crucial world of industry"?

It would be interesting to see how far they would advance with their present attitude.

The stockholders tell the board of directors, "Prove to me my money is being spent wisely. Show me a good return on my money. Prove my money is not being lost."

So shall the taxpayers tell the school board—and the taxpayers are stockholders—unless the attitude of the teachers' organization takes a decided turn in regard to appreciation of past taxation support.

Don't be misled. The supply is not endless. They may soon find out.

Still a Chance for School to Open on Time, But Will Children's Rights Be Considered?

It is extremely unfortunate that apparently wide differences still separate negotiating teams in the Granite City school district.

Although classes are due to begin Wednesday morning, weekend talks brought at least one proposal that was as widening the gap, rather than narrowing it.

Such a development poses the question of how badly a settlement is desired. It will be interpreted by some parents as confirming the reports that have been circulated for some time—that a strike is intended here this year without regard to what kind of working agreement is proposed.

We hope this is not the case, but if the new school term is to begin on time, there will have to be prompt and serious efforts by all parties, not a "stand pat" or "wait and see" approach.

Students have a right to an education, just as teachers have a right to fair pay and working conditions, and just as school officials have a right to expect that Illinois statutes against public employees' strikes will be observed by employees and enforced by the courts.

It would certainly appear possible for both the administrators and the union to agree to start school on time and continue talking, with the terms of a settlement made retroactive to the start of the term. There is ample precedent for this in many occupational fields.

We would like to be able to say that this is not only possible but likely. But the rights of students, as well as adherence to the law, have been trampled by the reckless and the spineless too often in the past for there to be much hope of an "on time" start here this year.

Our pessimistic outlook can be proven wrong if the negotiating parties resume discussions, make honorable concessions and hammer out a settlement by tomorrow night, or if they agree to work and talk simultaneously. We wouldn't mind at all being proven wrong; school eventually will be held, and it is harmful and pointless for it to be delayed.

How Not to Count a Billion Dollars

(Retail News Brief)

Got a $20 bill? We've a new use for them. Government budgets speak in terms of billions. How much is a billion bucks?

Some smart fellow has figured that if a man stood over a big hole in the ground and dropped in a $20 bill once every minute, day and night, it would take him 95 years to throw a billion dollars into the hole.

Does our luck to fall in the hole and drop in bills!

War Like Hades on Both Sides in Vietnam, French Journalist Finds

"The Two Shores of Hell" (Des deux rives de l'enfer), by Michele Ray. Translated by Elisabeth Abbott. New York, David McKay Co., 217 pages, $4.50.

Michele Ray sharpened General Sherman's classic definition of war by living on the ground and dropping in a $20 bill once every minute, day and night, it would take him 95 years to throw a billion dollars into the hole.

Yet the hell of the war is not in the physical destruction, but in the emotional upheavals, the forced deteriorations of an ancient civilization appear different when seen through the eyes of this French journalist.

Or should we say adventures? Doubtless the hold relief of her writing was influenced by the compressed, high-speed life she designed for herself.

She has written a book of 29 when this book was finished, but already this active, beautiful woman had a long list of adventures. She had been on the Coco Chanel world of half cars in France, and in company with three other women, drove from Argentina to Alaska.

Perhaps this penchant for making long drives from south to north gave her the idea for "the crazy trip," the central theme of "The Two Shores of Hell," which was a sort of reversed Dan to Beersheva journey encompassing the whole land.

She accepted the challenge of an American correspondent to drive from Canada in the south of Vietnam northward to the 17th Parallel.

This projected trip would give her first-hand information about the paddies of Delta and on to the seacoast north of Da Lat, the resort city.

Besides cutting the trip short, the Viet Cong also forced her to see more of the Highlands and

Highway Fund Freeze Ineffective, Unfair, Taking Big Toll in Deaths, Economic Loss

Fifteen months after the start of a Madison-St. Clair counties highway fund "freeze," the original issues remain unresolved and it is crystal clear that the U. S. Bureau of Roads and U. S. Justice Department ought to abandon the freeze as both ineffective and unfair.

Although the issues have been explained only sketchily, the current of new contracts for federally related highway construction is aimed at the level of road costs and at the extent of minority employment on highway projects. Labor and other costs have increased further during the shutdown, and there are fewer instead of more highway jobs.

What has been accomplished is to bludgeon not only the "guilty" but the innocent, restricting road building in a populous region that already had fallen far behind in providing the kind and number of highways essential for convenience and safety. Loss estimates ranging from $30 to $60 million indicate the seriousness of the economic impact.

Funds have been diverted from this vital region to other points in Illinois, and it is doubtful that the loss of momentum can ever be fully regained here, even if the freeze ended quickly and more than the normal flow of funds was obtained. Time is precious in the provision of adequate highways, and the rate at which various planning, acquisition and construction phases can be accelerated is quite limited.

Unions and contractors have made numerous concessions in an effort to thaw the freeze, within the limits of new federal laws banning the use of hiring quotas. Governor Ogilvie and other officials have gone to great lengths in an effort to get the issue resolved.

"The wheels of justice" grind slowly but exceedingly firm. In the process they have ground up a tragic toll of death, injury and financial loss.

This is believed to be the first and only region in the nation singled out for such destructive "cure" of highway ills. Senators Dirksen and Percy should contact the Justice Department and White House immediately with renewed appeals to end the highway freeze, and to make it the last as well as the first.

There are no new sins; the old ones just get better publicity now.

Show the Price Tag of Proposed New Laws

Congressman Denney of Nebraska has an excellent legislative proposal—that every bill introduced into the House of Representatives contain an estimate of the costs involved during the next two fiscal years.

As is true at the state level as well, many programs are enacted in Washington without a clear picture of their financial impact. Then, much later, the costs show up in appropriations.

The two-year projection would not be a total solution, but it could be a giant forward step. It is much sounder to consider "buying" or rejecting a proposal when the price tag is visible.

Old confidence men never die, they just steal away.

The High Cost of Crime

Crimes against businessmen aggregate $3 billion 203 million a year, enough to build 124,100 homes valued at $25,000.

Topping the list of crimes against businessmen are $958 million. These are followed by vandalism at $813 million, thefts by employees at $535 million, shoplifting at $504 million, burglary at $316 million, and robberies at $77 million.

That's quite a penalty for the privilege of being in business. And it's paid by the consumer, immediately, is paid by the consumer.

Holiday Traffic 'Scare' Tactics

(Atkinson, Ill., Annawan News)

Have you let those predictions of holiday deaths scare you on the highways on holiday weekends?

We did, too, until we learned that the highway safety campaign has little basis in fact. The Chicago Motor Club-AAA says that standing highway fatality predictions can be made for nearly any weekend.

They point out that emphasis on holiday deaths counts does nothing to promote traffic safety, but instead adds to the worry of the average driver and discourages many from enjoying a holiday trip by auto.

The CMCA now is advocating a positive approach to safe, travel-filled holidays, a campaign called "Bring 'Em Back Alive!"

The new campaign stresses the wider observance of common sense rules of good driving.

While "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" is primarily aimed at the motorist, it does not pass over the concern for pedestrian safety.

'Free' Long-Distance Phone Call Can Cost $1000 or Year in Prison

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

The person who thinks he is entitled to make a free long-distance telephone call once in a while, perhaps as a "bonus" for being a good customer, may be surprised to find that he is breaking the law.

A common scheme is the use of a person-to-person or collect telephone call to transmit a code message. Through the use of such scheme, the party has managed to transmit a message without actually having to pay for a telephone call.

Under provisions of a 1961 Illinois Statute, in all of these instances both the caller and the person who has agreed to provide the service are breaking the law. They could each be fined as much as $1000 or be imprisoned for up to one year or both.

"Surprisingly, a lot of people don't think of this as unethical, or even illegal," said a telephone company spokesman. "They think of it as a game."

The telephone company continuously investigates such illegal activities. Upon completion of the investigation, the case is turned over to the proper law enforcement agency, where a decision is reached regarding prosecution of those violating the law.

There are certain other types of telephone calls that are illegal, said a telephone company spokesman. "They think of it as a game."

Anyone who dials a number at random and asks the person who answers a trick question could be found guilty of disorderly conduct and fined as much as $500.

Anyone who receives nuisance, obscene or prank calls should notify the police or the telephone company or both.

Nuclear Power Research Progress

(American Institute of Physics)

Before the next presidential election, perhaps one of the candidates will campaign on the "Tokomak gap" that has been allowed to develop.

This gap, which we hope will not be exploited politically, refers to the field of nuclear fusion research to achieve "significant plasma confinement."

Does this mean that it is time for U.S. politicians to dust off their "gap" speeches? Not really.

Dr. Artimovich himself said if he were an "official adviser" to the Atomic Energy Commission, he would recommend that the U.S. wait one or two years to be absolutely sure of our (Soviet) interpretation of the Tokomak device.

With bombs or missiles, a two-year wait would be unthinkable, but in plasma research, the waiting is different.

In keeping with the spirit of the 1968 Geneva Conference, the Soviets and Americans have freely exchanged resumes of plasma research. So, if one country takes a lead, the other should be able to follow.

Since the field is all expensive, it is necessary to pick only a few for development. One that the Soviets, but not the Americans, have chosen is known as a Tokomak device.

American scientists heard a great deal about this device during a recent visit by Soviet physicist Lev Artimovich.

Great Seal of the U. S. Explained

(U. S. Department of State)

I would like to inquire about a story someone told me about the one-dollar bill, that the thirteen stars on the green side, inside the eagle part of the Great Seal, arranged in the form of a constellation, represent the same star which is known as the shield of David, a symbol of the Jewish people.

I was told that this was done in appreciation for the financial aid given to George Washington by the Jewish people, Haym Solomon. Is this true?

A. S. The question you raise—whether the thirteen stars in the crest of the Great Seal of the United States were arranged in the form of a "Star of David" in appreciation for the services rendered during the Revolution by the financier, Haym Solomon—has been addressed to us a number of times in the past.

We have found no information that such was the case. There is no indication that the arrangement was intended to be a disguised star.

The resolution of June 20, 1782, by which the Continental Congress adopted the design of the Great Seal, and which remains in force unchanged to this day, describes the crest in the following words:

"A glory, or, breaking compact symmetry."

Regarding the crest, only the eagle is included in that statement.

"The constellation denotes a new field taking its place and rank among other sovereign powers."

So far as can be determined, the significance of the pattern of the constellation is its compact symmetry.

A group of residents in the part of Nemoook township adjacent to the city of Madison is circulating a petition asking that the area be annexed to Madison. It would almost double the population of the city and add $1,800,000 in assessed valuation. It would extend Madison to the boundary line between Madison and St. Clair counties, including much farm land and railroad property.

Several rooms are being added to the Trinity Tabernacle parsonage and a basement is being completed.

Earl Sullivan of Madison, formerly of Mitchell, left for California to take a position in shipbuilding construction.

Blue Collars Gradually Changing To White Collars in This Region

(Granite City Long-Range Plan)

In 1960, 46.2% of the labor force of Granite City was employed in manufacturing.

Other elements included miscellaneous retail trade 6.5%, public administration 5.2%, government and private educational services 4.9%, food and dairy products stores 3.0%, eating and drinking places 2.4%, wholesale trade 2.3%, personal services 2.0%, hospitals 1.6%, utility and sanitary services 1.4%, trucking service and warehousing 1.4%, miscellaneous professional and related services 1.4%, and welfare, religious and non-profit membership organizations, 1.2%.

Additional categories included business services, private households, agriculture, transportation, communications, entertainment and recreation services and repair services.

Although the 46.2% manufacturing figure was a percentage decline since 1950 (48.2%), the actual number of persons employed in manufacturing rose during this period by 900.

The percentage decline was a result of the substantial increase in the "white collar" and service sectors of the labor force. This followed a national trend in which white collar and service workers increased 26% and "blue collar" workers increased by only 6%.

The national labor force is composed of a majority of white collar workers, whereas the reverse is true in Granite City where the labor force is composed of a majority of blue collar workers.

This is primarily due to Granite City being the steel center of the St. Louis Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area.

About 1000 attended a playground track meet held at 20th street and Delmar avenue. The playgrounds had been conducted under the direction of YMCA Secretary Raut, with W. R. Webb as general manager. The winners were Miss Mary Cowan, Miss Margaret Mulberry and Mrs. Herbert Ruth.

Besides the track meet, each playground had a fine exhibition of the work of the spinning and sewing clubs. A pie eating contest was won by James Coffey and a bicycle race by John Seurnay.

The constitution of the American Legion has been adopted by the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines organization, and it is planned to form a local post to foster 100% Americanism. 'Battle of Bands' at Park Pavilion Sept. 14

Teenage music groups from the Quad-City area are being invited to register this week for the second annual "Battle of the Bands" contest, to be sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees and Clark's Teaberry Gum on Sunday, Sept. 14, at the Wilson Park ice rink pavilion. Registration starts today at the Fornazewski music store, 3009 Nameoki road. Additional information may be obtained by calling 877-3475. Musicians must be 13 years of age but no older than 19 years at the time of the contest.

John Fornazewski, chairman of the Jaycee project, said the contest will be limited to ten bands. "We are looking for the best young music groups in the area to compete in the Granite City contest," he noted.

Local winners are eligible to compete at the state level and for the national championship. Last year, over 30 state winners selected from 20,000 bands competed in the national contest held at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City, N. J.

The winning band was "Symbol of Time" from California. Thousands of dollars in cash along with recording contracts and tours across the country are among the prizes awarded the winning group.

Several hundred young people danced and listened to ten area bands which competed at the Wilson Park pavilion last fall. The winning band, "Moberg Shotgun," split its group prior to the state contest in May and the runner-up band, the "Rising Sons," replaced them in the Illinois finals.

County Crime Control Meet Set for Sept. 17

The steering committee of the Madison county board of supervisors is planning a meeting for Sept. 17 with mayors and police chiefs of the county to review major needs of communities in obtaining improved crime control methods.

The committee, headed by Harry Briggs, Nameoki township supervisor, has received a preliminary report on establishment of a three-county coordinated crime record and communication center from a representative of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Plan Commission.

John Ellis, development administrator of SIMAPC's law enforcement commission, told the committee he hopes to present concrete proposals on a start of a data bank in the next 12 months.

SIMAPAC, conducting the crime control studies for Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties, received a $20,700 federal planning grant in March through the Illinois Crime Commission under the U. S. Omnibus bill, and an application will be prepared soon for a second planning grant for the current fiscal year.

Ellis said his office also can assist localities in obtaining grants and advised local units of governments to start determining their needs and priorities to upgrade their police departments. Such data is to accompany applications for the grants.

Library Development By Regions to Continue

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 20—Secretary of State and State Librarian Paul Powell reports that official continuation of the Public Library Development program with necessary appropriations has been approved by Governor Richard Ogilvie.

The bill appropriating $4,745,164 had been overwhelmingly voted by both branches of the legislature, where bipartisan sponsorship was headed by Sen. John G. Gilbert (R), Carbondale, and Rep. Richard J. Hart (D), Benton.

Powell expressed gratification at the support of the program, which was first authorized in 1965. "This is evidence of the lively interest of our people in good library service. In the short span of four years, the state has been blanketed by this cooperative program.

"While libraries in some of our sister states are suffering financial difficulties or lack of concern in this important area, Illinois libraries are building solidly.

"The alert understanding among professionals, trustees and lay friends of libraries should be a matter of just pride to everyone in the state."

Appropriations to the 18 systems are on the basis of 40 cents per capita and $5 per square mile if one county is served or $15 if more than one county is involved. In accord with the new annual session procedure of the General Assembly, all grants are on a yearly rather than the former biennial basis.

The Lewis and Clark Library System, with headquarters at Edwardsville, of which Mrs. Mary T. Howe is director and Mrs. Lois B. Reed is president, serves a population of 321,160 in an area of 3884.3 square miles. Its share in the grant for the fiscal year is $188,728.

Counties, in whole or in part, included in the Lewis and Clark System are Bond, Calhoun, Greene, Jersey, Madison, Macoupin and Montgomery.

Moore Becoming a United Air Lines Pilot

Long before a United Air Lines pilot dons his uniform and gets behind the controls of his airplane, he will have spent scores of hours "flying" on the ground. The feat is accomplished at United's Flight Training Center in Denver, Colo., where pilots in training "fly" multi-million-dollar simulators that duplicate every operation of any plane in the jet fleet.

Thomas E. Moore, 25, of 2146 Taylor avenue, Springfield, formerly of Granite City, has just graduated from United's pilot school and is flying out of Chicago's O'Hare International Airport. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCabe Moore, Westfield drive, O'Fallon, also former local residents.

Boeing 737 Instruction

Moore received seven weeks of training to qualify as a turbine aircraft second officer. In addition to two weeks of general operations information and a week of preparation for his Federal Aviation Administration flight engineer's examination, he was given four weeks of Boeing 737 transition training.

Simulators duplicate every performance characteristic of a real airplane, from takeoff and level flight to landing, complete with "tire squeak" sound effects.

Some of the simulators move exactly as a real cockpit would in response to every action taken by the pilot at the controls. Other simulators face a large movie screen which is used to portray an airport in day and night takeoffs and landings.

Moore's last week in training was devoted to final exams, conducted by the airline and the Federal Aviation Administration. Tests included a rating ride, oral exams, a simulator check, and a check ride in the air at the controls of a Boeing 737.

Initial Duties

Moore, as are all new pilots, was assigned to the fleet as a second officer. His duties include checking all functions of the aircraft prior to departure, supervising fuel loading, monitoring instruments while in flight, and performing further ground checks on the aircraft after landing.

A staff of 600, including 285 instructors, is employed at the Flight Training Center to train, check, or re-check United's 6000 pilots. The airline needs five full crews for each of its aircraft to meet requirements of 24-hour scheduling, days off and vacations.

United began training its own pilots in 1929, three years after the airline began operating. An entirely new flight training school was dedicated in August 1968. It cost $7.5 million to construct and encompasses over 289,000 square feet. Total value of the Training Center, including equipment, is over $30 million.

Classes for new trainees begin every week. The initial cost of training a new second officer is $10,000. By the time the average pilot retires, United will have spent upwards of $100,000 on his training throughout his career.

In addition to its own pilots, United also trains business pilots and flight crews from other airlines and operates a ground school for radar and radio training.

Blackburn College Graduate

Born at Christian Welfare Hospital, East St. Louis, while his parents resided in Granite City, Moore was a lifelong local resident until graduating from Granite City high school. When he and his wife, the former Janet Crawford of Vandalia, graduated from Blackburn College, Carlinville, he was named athlete-scholar of the class and she was valedictorian. They now have two daughters, Sue Ellen Killene, three and a half years old, and Michele Kristen, 14 months.

He began learning to fly in the fall of 1966, and devoted a summer to learning to pilot commercial and multi-engine planes during a year-and-a-half spent teaching at a Springfield Junior high school.

Everett 'Doc' Haven, 52-Year Resident, Dies

Everett "Doc" Haven, 61, of 321 East Chain of Rocks road, Mitchell, died at 3:35 p.m. Thursday at St. Mary's Hospital, Clayton. He entered the hospital three weeks ago for tests and underwent brain surgery eight days prior to his death.

Born in St. Louis, he had lived in the Quad-Cities for 52 years. He was employed as an auditor for the Department of Revenue, State of Illinois, a position he had held for 29 years.

Mr. Haven was a member of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church. Survivors include his wife, Florence; one son, William Haven of Granite City; and a granddaughter, Leslie Lynn Haven.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column. The services took place this morning at St. Bartholomew's, with burial at Sunset Hill Cemetery.

Air Force Graduate

Airman Stuart W. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard G. Jones, 2908 Dogwood drive, has graduated from a U. S. Air Force technical school at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss. He was trained as an administrative specialist. The airman is a graduate of Granite City high school.

UNITED AIR LINES OFFICER. Thomas E. Moore has completed training at the Flight Training Center in Denver and has been assigned as a Boeing 737 crew member at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport. He is shown inside an electronic flight simulator which duplicates all flight maneuvers of the aircraft.
